Nicki graduated from the Evergreen State College in Olympia, Washington with a Bachelor of Science degree in Ecological Agriculture. While a student she was also an intern and farm hand at the campus organic farm. After graduating, she worked as a Certification Specialist and Inspector at the Midwest Organic Services Association in Viroqua, Wisconsin, helping to certify vegetable, crop and livestock producers as well as handlers. In this position she was also responsible for ensuring farmers wanting to export to Canada met the equivalency agreement.

She has recently returned to her homeland of Canada and is currently Farm Manager of the Albion Hills Community Farm, a new community farm located in Caledon.
